Message from Our First Selectman

Like many places in our country, Bridgewater has experienced weather extremes in the past couple of years. In 2017 we had drought and cold temperatures, but 2018 proved to be the wettest and possibly warmest year in anyone’s memory. This made life miserable for both farmers and outdoor workers. Oh, and let’s not forget the tornados that tore up the south half of town last May. As Mark Twain once said, "If you don’t like the weather in New England now, just wait a few minutes."

We just had a meeting with the Route 133 bridge contractors and learned about the schedule and construction details on major repairs slated to start in April. They described how the steel components that support the road bed over Lake Lillinonah have been corroded over the past ten years due to "magic salt". Needless to say, the bridge needs significant work and that is scheduled between April and October, 2019.

There will be alternating one lane traffic most of the time except for five weekend complete closures. These will occur roughly once every 4-5 weeks from Friday night at 10pm until Monday morning at 5am. A by-pass will be in effect through New Milford for those weekends. There will be lots of notice and the Bridgewater Fair weekend (please no rain) will not be impacted. One interesting feature will be the finish coat on the road surface which will be applied as liquid polymer that hardens within minutes to a corrosion resistant impermeable coating. Pretty high tech!

Everything is running smoothly around Town. Our new blinking Christmas Tree seemed festive especially with the luminaries on Christmas Eve. Thanks to all the volunteers who make events like these so special. In my position I realize how many citizens give so much time to the town, Burnham School, Burnham Library, the Fire Department, Senior Center and their neighbors. I would especially note our Bridgewater Ambulance crew who goes out at any hour and in any weather to deal with health traumas. Thank you all.

Bridgewater may be a historic town with an aging population, but we are updating our website this winter and with a new web address: www.bridgewater-ct.gov. It will be easier to navigate, especially on mobile devices, and hopefully have more content at your fingertips. Just don’t look at it while you are driving.

Stay warm!

Office of the Tax Collector

LAST DAY TO PAY WITHOUT PENALTY FEBRUARY 1, 2019

Payment must be RECEIVED or U.S. POSTMARKED by February 1, 2019 for the Supplemental Motor Vehicle taxes and the second installment of the Real Estate and Personal Property taxes. If taxes are unpaid by that date, the interest penalty in February will be 3% with a $2 minimum. Failure to receive a tax bill does not invalidate the tax or interest.

PREVIOUSLY DELINQUENT bills accumulate additional interest when not paid by the last day of the month.

If you use online banking for your payments, please do not wait until the last minute. Checks processed in this manner often DO NOT have a US postmark and will be credited on the RECEIVED date.

DOING YOUR STATE/FEDERAL TAXES? Payment history reports can be generated via the town’s website. Please visit the Tax Collector's page at www.bridg watertownhall.org and follow directions carefully.

DMV News: Get out of line by going online! Visit the DMV website at www.ct.gov/dmv. Check the status of your license and registration; check property tax, insurance, emissions and other compliance issues; pay infraction online; cancel or renew registrations, and more.

If the address on your motor vehicle bill is wrong, it is your responsibility to change it with the Department of Motor Vehicles. Our office cannot change the DMV record. A lot of effort is wasted on redirecting bills that are sent to the wrong town year after year.

Credit Cards: The Tax Department can receive payments made by credit or debit cards. There is an additional fee paid directly to the service provider to use this service. The amount of the fee is 2.75% of the amount of the payment subject to a $2.00 minimum fee. This service can be accessed through our website at www.bridgewater townhall.org.

FROM THE TOWN HISTORIAN’S DESK

The holidays often bring family gatherings. Stories of past times are passed down to the next generations. Sometimes it makes people wonder about those ancestors from long ago. If you are one of the curious, there are resources here in town - and elsewhere - to help you find the answers. In our library, there are some special books that are kept off the stacks but are available by request. For those who have Bridgewater roots, these old, fragile books might offer you an insight to the events and people of the past. The Senior Center offers classes in computer literacy. If you already have those skills, they have Ancestry to give you access to thousands of records.

If you are more adventurous, a trip to the city’s archives might help you find information on relatives who either arrived or stayed on in New York. Documents from all boroughs cover the history of the city and its people dating back to colonial times. Go early, as desks and readers are in short supply. If you work up an appetite, you will be within walking distance to both China Town and Little Italy! Happy hunting!

The new year will be filled with new adventures and new opportunities. For Region 12, 2019 will mark a number of firsts. We have received recognition of student achievement for the school district and we will open our new agriscience program.

We are proud to announce we have received over seventy (70) applications for the 2019-2020 school year for the agriscience program. The realization of student numbers, as well as the build itself, are a testament to the work and support of our communities. Bridgewater has been a visionary in finding ways to support our small schools with dynamic ideas.

The Groundbreaking Ceremony for the agriscience program and science labs renovations was held on November 9th. There are parking limitations during the construction phase of Shepaug’s new build and it will be important to plan extra time when coming to events for the remainder of the 2018-19 school year. In addition to the construction projects, we are also looking towards the maintenance of the Shepaug building which involves a renovation of the roof. The Board of Education will be working with the towns to make sure we are making the best choice for the school while still being fiscally responsible.

Burnham School continues to be a bright star in achievement measures. Our school was rated #3 in Niche’s list of top elementary schools in Litchfield County as well as placing #7 in Best Elementary School Teachers in Connecticut. The Niche ratings are based on a number of variables: testing achievements, student to teacher ratio, and teacher attendance to name a few.

The Burnham students are looking forward to reopening their school garden during the spring. In the meantime, they will continue to care for their animals indoors. Responsibility for self and others is always a strong and powerful lesson for our students.

Thank you to our Bridgewater community for the care and support you give all of our students. Region 12 schools recognize that our towns make us stronger. We have some wonderful opportunities ahead of us which are only possible with your support!
We have been busy the past couple of months; planning and holding some fun and creative activities for the children of Burnham School. In November, Burnham students became global citizens setting the intention for peace to prevail in 193 countries during a World Peace Flag Ceremony. A World Peace Pole, an international symbol of peace akin to those at the U.N., the pyramids of Egypt, Mt. Everest, and even at the border of North and South Korea, will be set in solidarity at the school in the spring. The PTO also hosted our annual Harvest Gathering where community seniors and the children all had wonderful time together making crafts, singing songs and enjoying special treats.

This spring, instead of planning a big fundraising event, we have chosen to organize a different type of fundraiser that will include the children of our school and encourage community spirit and reading. From January 21st to February 15th, the PTO has planned a Read-A-Thon. We are asking people in our community to sponsor Burnham students by making a donation to the PTO. In return, the students will read to meet personal reading goals. If you would like to sponsor a child for the Read-A-Thon, please stop by the Burnham School, or send a check to the school attn: Read-A-Thon, or check out our webpage https://burnhamschoolpto.weebly.com/events.html to find out more information or make an electronic contribution.

Other things to keep in mind:
We are always looking for people to volunteer. If you are interested in volunteering please email us: burnhamschoolpto@gmail.com.
Help support us by using Amazon Smile: www.smile.amazon.com/ch/26-0011749. For every purchase made, Amazon Smile makes a donation to the PTO.

An Old Fashioned Snowstorm

As I write this in January, looking out on a rainy day, I think about how this could be snow. So far, no major snowstorms or blizzards this season, but that could all change. I was thinking back to the storms I remember as a child, the blizzard of 1978 comes to mind, and I wonder how they compare to the storms of our grandparents and great grandparents age.

One such momentous storm occurred in the winter of 1888. In January of that year an epic blizzard hit the Mid West where my father-in-law tells stories about the farmers stringing a line from the house to the barn so they wouldn't get lost in the blinding snow. Unfortunately, some did get lost and froze to death, not to be found until spring.

That storm was followed by another momentous event that extended from New England, New York and Pennsylvania to New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington DC, beginning on March 11 and lasting for 3 days. The Blizzard of 1888 in New York City was so devastating that every horse car and elevated train had stopped running. Roads were impassable, mail stopped, electric wires for telegraph and telephone were broken and the great city was practically at a standstill and cut off from the rest of the country.

In Hartford, the storm wreaked havoc leaving drifts of 4 to 6 feet on the sidewalks and elsewhere as high as 12 feet. The trains and telegraphs there had the same troubles as their New York counterparts. When the March storm reached Bridgewater in the Litchfield Hills, it started out as a typical snowstorm in the afternoon, but quickly took a turn for the worst. The next morning, local residents awoke to snow so deep that they couldn't open their outside doors. Hopefully, you remembered to keep a shovel indoors. There were no snow plow trucks, snow blowers or paved roads in the rural areas to aid in snow removal. Instead, all snow removal had to be done by hand or with farm equipment.

The main concerns of the rural farmers in Litchfield County were feeding their animals, having enough wood to keep the home fires burning and of course having food for the family. Farmers were self-sufficient and usually had enough food stored in the cellar and with any luck, a recent purchase of flour to get them through a tough storm. Some did run out of food and had to trek to a neighbor's house for the proverbial cup of sugar. Some Bridgewater residents recalled hearing the moans and cries of the cows in the barn stuck there without hay to eat. The drifts were to the eaves and it is said that the hens could step off their perches and into the snow. Few dared go out during the storm for fear of not finding their way back home. Everything was entombed in a coat of white. Many had no way of knowing how their relatives were doing on the other side of town, much less another part of the state. Without the benefit of modern technology - radio, television, cell phones or internet - people had to wait weeks to hear from their relatives.

After the storm passed, the Keelers, who owned a large farm in Bridgewater, dug a tunnel from the horse barn to the water trough. The snow was so deep; the horse's ears didn't even show over the snow cover! They had to use oxen and sleds to break the roads and only then could people start to dig out.

In New Milford, bobsleds drawn by horses were used to clear the road. As of Friday, March 16th, there were still no trains into New Milford from Bridgeport, no papers or letters and no news from points north by telephone or telegraph since Monday. Roxbury was especially hard hit with outlying districts still cut off from the center of town and roads impassable until March 23rd.

Those who did venture out had tales to tell. One man apparently pulled a board off the peak of his barn roof to get in and feed his animals. Those animals were very grateful I'm sure. Henry and Horace Sanford could only get out of their house through the woodhouse attached to their house down on Wolf Pit Mountain. The Bridgewater correspondent for the Gazette, who lived on the main road from Bridgewater to New Milford, commented in the paper on March 30th that "not a horse, wagon or sleigh passed our house from the 11th to the 24th". Those who perished in the storm had to be kept in freezing parlors until conditions improved enough to allow for burials. According to locals, there was snow on the ground that year until June 27th, just short of the July 4th holiday.

According to NOAA, the Blizzard of 1888 dumped 50 inches of snow over Connecticut in the three day storm and 40 inches over New York. Of course that doesn't include the drifting of 40 to 50 feet that occurred with the wind. Now that's one for the record books!
The seas saw their fair share of treachery as well with 200 ships sunk and 400 lives lost from the Chesapeake Bay to Nantucket Island. Everyone was more than happy to see spring that year and finally get out and about. At that time, no one could remember a snow quite like it. But some of the elders may have recalled an earlier snow known as the "Christmas storm" 70 to 80 years before that dumped snow as high as second story windows. Or they may have remembered the storm of Jan. 4, 1859. It was called an "old fashioned" storm with snow falling faster than it could be shoveled away. Reports were that some three feet of snow fell with no strong wind for additional drifting. They might also recall how the whole town turned out when the storm ended to take their teams of oxen and break the roads. Once that effort was complete the next country effort was to get the children to school. That would have sounded mighty familiar to the folks in 1888. Farm life had not changed that much in that time span.

Yes, times have changed. Never mind that we now have cars to dig out, but we also have the added pressure of constant contact through the internet and other technological capabilities. We still rush to the store before a big storm to stock up on food even though most of us have plenty of food in our cupboards and freezers. We worry about power outages that will affect our home, businesses and slow us down. Maybe it's that fear of being cut off from others and truly alone, or just being stuck in the house for an extended period. This is something our ancestors thought about too. While there major innovations were the railroad, telephone, telegraph and daily papers, they still had that feeling of deprivation for not having those conveniences available that they were accustomed to. When the trains starting running again they were as excited as we are when the power finally comes back on and we can use our wi-fi and computers.

Whatever our concerns or fears, we can hope it's a bit longer until the next "storm of a lifetime". May spring be early this year!

There was very little he couldn't do extremely well. Bridgewater Emergency Medical Services

One of the benefits of living in Bridgewater is that we enjoy the services of well-trained, competent Emergency Medical Professionals. Our Emergency Medical Services are provided by members of the Bridgewater Volunteer Fire Department. Unlike many of our neighboring towns, the Emergency Medical Responders in Bridgewater are all volunteers. These dedicated people donate their time, energy and professional skills to assist you and your loved ones when you need help. They spend many hours obtaining continuing medical education and practicing their skills so that they can provide you effective care 24 hours a day 365 days a year. Their generosity is a good example of the many reasons we all love our town.

Diana Haskell is one of our EMTs. She has been providing Emergency Medical Services to the citizens of Bridgewater for more than 25 years. She responds to calls for help regardless of the time of day or night, no matter the inconvenience or disruption of her personal plans. When she arrives to help one of our neighbors she is totally focused on trying to help the person in need. In addition to being a very competent provider of emergency medical services, Diana is kind and compassionate. She always makes an extra effort to bring a calm and friendly demeanor to the people she is assisting.

The next time you see Diana at the Post Office, the Bistro, Church or anywhere please take a moment to thank her for the important contributions she has made and continues to make to our wonderful town.

Please remember that our Emergency Medical Services are provided by volunteers. Without people continuing to volunteer we would not have the benefits of this important service in Bridgewater. WE ARE LOOKING FOR ADDITIONAL VOLUNTEERS. Training will be provided to help you learn the necessary skills and use them with competence and confidence. If you would like to consider doing your part to continue to help your Bridgewater neighbors as part of our Emergency Medical Services team please contact me. I will be very happy to help you determine how you can help. See newsletter insert for new classes offered!

On behalf of the members of the Bridgewater Ambulance team and the Bridgewater Volunteer Fire Department, I wish you all a very happy, healthy New Year.

Billboard Contest
HRRA’s 12th Annual Recycling Billboard Contest for students K-12th grade. WIN up to $500. The complete list of rules and dates of the contest are posted at www.hrra.org. 2019 Contest Theme: Recycle Right Create a billboard for the region that will inspire people to “recycle right”.

Top 10 RECYCLING MYTHS AND HOW TO AVOID THEIR TRAP

MYTH #1: Recycling is hard. No, it isn’t! Recycling is as easy as throwing something in the trash. Arm yourself with the list of what is accepted in your program and pair your trash cans with recycling containers. Place them side by side for success!

MYTH #2: Recyclables need to be washed. which wastes water. Don’t waste water! Recyclables only need to be emptied. Rinse quickly only if soiled. Use the dishwasher after washing your dishes.

MYTH #3: OK - but what about the transportation. Doesn’t it take more energy to drive recyclables around? Even with transportation, recycling saves energy! But there’s more - recycling also reduces the creation of greenhouse gases, generates US jobs, and saves natural resources. When shopping, look for items made with recycled content to make the biggest energy-saving impacts!

MYTH #4: Recycling is so 1990. You might be surprised... Only half of Americans can recycle at home as easily as they can throw something away. The Recycling Partnership and HRRA are working hard to make recycling a reality for all.

MYTH #5: Pizza boxes are not recyclable. Pizza boxes are recyclable, crusts are not! Make sure to remove crusts and scrape cheese off the inside of the box before recycling.

MYTH #6: If something has the recycling arrows on it, it’s recyclable, right? No - not always. Those little arrows refer to the type of plastic the items were made from, not how recyclable they are. But most communities can recycle plastic bottles and containers. You just need to check with HRRA. Please recycle plastic bags at your local retailer - not in your recycling bin.

MYTH #7: If you put the cap on a bottle it isn’t recyclable. Keep that cap on to recycle both the bottle and the cap. Loose caps are trash. The cap alone is too small to make it through a Material Recovery Facility. Keep the cap on to recycle it otherwise put loose caps in the trash.

MYTH #8: Compostable items can be recycled, right? No! Composting and recycling happen in different ways. Food waste and compostable serviceware CANNOT be recycled. Visit HRRA.org to learn more about composting.

MYTH #9: Bag Your Recyclables. Leave your recycling loose and free! Unless you are instructed to by your hauler, never place bagged recyclables inside your cart or bins. If you collect your recyclables in a plastic bag, remove them from the bag before placing them in your bin. Return all plastic bags and film to retail stores only.

MYTH #10: I thought I saw the garbage truck pick up my recycling. Maybe. Sometimes haulers use the same trucks for all collection, which can be confusing to residents. Or they have a split body truck. Don’t worry, your recyclables are taken to a sorting facility where they are separated and baled to sell back to manufacturers.
UPDATES AND REMINDERS
from the Health District

The New Year is an ideal time to reflect and review our accomplishments and our goals, which should include goals for our health.

February is Heart Health Month. Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the United States. Fortunately, it is largely preventable and there are many things people can do to reduce their risk, such as being more active. There are great opportunities to look at the health of our heart and cardiovascular system - what we learn we can put in place to carry us to better health. Your heart health matters all year long.

A good way to understand and improve your heart health is to "know your numbers". During a heart check up, your doctor takes a careful look at your "numbers," including your cholesterol and triglyceride levels, your blood pressure, your height/weight/waist and BMI (body mass index) and more. Knowing your numbers can help you and your doctor identify your risks and mark the progress you are making toward a healthier you.

There is great information available at the American Heart Association website, www.americanheart.org

Risk factors are the circumstances that make a person more likely to develop a disease. Having these conditions may also increase the chances that an existing disease will get worse. Some risk factors for heart disease, such as age and family history of early heart disease, can’t be changed. But there are many risk factors for heart disease that you can do something about, such as:

- Controlling high blood pressure
- Lowering high blood cholesterol
- Diabetes Control
- Stop Smoking
- Lose weight if you are overweight
- Being more physically active

As you take the time to examine your heart health and address the risk factors that you can control, keep in mind that that if you haven’t had a recent physical exam and you are at risk for heart disease you should call your physician for an appointment.

Reminder: Tag Sales

Tag Sales in the Town of Bridgewater are now by permit only.

Please be aware of the following information:

1. Only 6 official TAG SALE SIGNS (furnished by the Sign Officer) may be posted. All others will be removed.
2. No signs may be posted on Trees, Poles, Traffic Islands or the Town Green. Signs posted in these locations will be removed.
3. Only articles from the owner's premises may be sold.
4. If traffic hazards are created, the Police Department may revoke your permit.
5. Only 2 tag sales may be held in one year and they may be no longer than 3 days in duration.
6. A Tag Sale Permit Fee of $3.00 is required and permits may be obtained in the Town Hall.
7. A Sign Deposit of $9.00 is required. Signs may go up the day before the sale and must be removed immediately following the sale. If signs are returned within 7 days of sale, this fee will be refunded. However, if the signs are left up and removed by town employees you lose your sign deposit.

Some reminders are needed for those of you holding tag sales. Our Zoning Regulations allow only 2 tag sales a year. Signs are to be put up on the day of the tag sale and taken down immediately after. Any signs left after the tag sale will be removed by the Zoning Enforcement Officer and fines will be imposed. Connecticut General Statute 14-310 prohibits placing signs on highway and traffic signs. Also Connecticut General Statute 23-65 prohibits affixing signs to a "telegraph, telephone, electric light, or power pole in any public way or grounds."

Section 3.4 of our Sign Ordinance prohibits placing a sign on a "tree, shrub, rock or other natural object" as well. Violations of these regulations carries a fine of up to $100 per sign and signs placed in such a manner will be removed. Please be considerate of your neighbors. It's a good idea to ask permission before you put a sign on someone else's property. The property owner has a right to remove the sign.

The Food Pantry, which made its home in the parish house in January 2010, is available to all residents of Bridgewater. Reverend Peter Hammond and his wife, Kimberly Gellatly, direct operations for the Food Pantry on a volunteer basis. "No proof of need is required. We're open weekday mornings and often into the afternoon," explains Ms. Gellatly. "If a resident is unable to come in the mornings, we will also be happy to open up at a time more convenient for them. We believe there are more people in town that might need a little help and we welcome them. Confidentiality is guaranteed. If someone isn't able to drive to the church office, we will deliver. Donors and shoppers alike can call us at the church office with questions or to make arrangements to visit. Questions about the Food Pantry should be directed to Kim Gellatly (860-354-8283)

The Bridgewater Recreation Commission is working hard to bring fun filled activities to all the residents of Bridgewater. If you have any ideas, feedback or suggestions, please let us know. Thank you for your continued support of our programs.
DID YOU KNOW...?

Stepping through the front portico of Burnham Library, it's easy to feel that you are being transported into the early twentieth-century study of some gentleman scholar. Artifacts are carefully placed on high shelves, acting as guardians to the history that grounds the institution. Looking up, you may notice a mustachioed man keeping watch over the library. This bust of Van Wyck Brooks, a resident of the town, has a particular story that few know of.

While many will return a puzzled look at the mention of his name now, Van Wyck Brooks was a literary critic and historian who won both the Pulitzer Prize, and National Book Award for his work The Flowering of New England. Following his death, the library and his wife spearheaded efforts to build a wing dedicated to Brooks and during this process Mrs. William K. Dupree came across the bust in the clearing of the estate of sculptor Jo Davidson. The piece was located at his studio in Paris. Davidson was well-known at the time, and even now many of his works are on display at prominent institutions such as the National Gallery and the Met. Both Brooks and Davidson were part of the Independent Voters Committee of the Arts and Sciences for Roosevelt, an organization of noted members of the artistic community who lobbied for the election of FDR. Davidson may have used Brooks' likeness as a study since he was known for ability to sculpt the face of individuals without the use of photographs.

!Van Wyck Brooks on the cover of time Magazine on Oct. 2, 1944

Mrs. Dupree sent word back to Bridgewater, where a committee was formed to purchase the bust. A price of $1200.00 was put on the piece and Eleanor Gowan, owner of the Bridgewater Store, came forward as treasurer to the committee. The word was put out in town with the hope of raising the sum. Mrs. Gowan noted, "[s]ince this is a town project honoring Mr. Brooks... it is hoped that many small contributions will come in so that everyone in Bridgewater may have the opportunity to be part of this worthwhile project." Indeed, reflecting the philanthropic and generous spirit that pervades this town (emphasized by instances like the gift of William Dickson Burnham), the bust was purchased and found its place in town officially on December 19th, 1963. While wandering through our stacks, enjoying a cup of coffee, or the ambience of the little library, make sure to say "hi" to Mr. Brooks. Hopefully this gesture will remind you of this special community that you belong to, one that worked so hard to honor his memory in that fall of 1963.
